Photographic and Intellectual Property Reproduction Policy & Fees

Photographs and text purchased from the Kent Historical Museum are to be used once only, as specified in the order form. No further rights are extended with the sale. If the print is used in publication, we ask for the return of the print purchased.

Credit must be given adjacent to every photograph or unit of text* displayed or published. Please credit the Kent Historical Museum and the image number (if applicable).

The United States copyright law authorizes libraries and archives to furnish photocopies and reproduction of intellectual material only under certain specified conditions. Such copies may not be used for any purpose other than private study, scholarship, or research. If a user requests or later uses a photocopy or reproduction for purposes in excess of "fair use," that user may be liable for copyright infringement. This institution reserves the right to refuse a copying order if, in its judgment, fulfillment of that order would involve violations of this law.

*A unit of text equals a continuous piece of writing of up to 100 words, or every 50 words in a piece longer than 100 words, and includes the content of newspaper clippings, letters, or any other archival materials.
